FIND OLD WARRANT

Second Charge Lodged Against Negro Saying that he got lost, and it was with difficulty that he found his way George Booker, colored, was arrested yesterday in Monroe Park by Keeper A. L. Moon on the charge of being disorderly and refusing to move when ordered to do so. He was sent to the Second Police Station, and, after his arrival there, Bicycle Pohceman Brennan discovered that there was an old warrant for his arrest.

It bore the date of July 13, 1912, and accused Booker of assaulting and shooting at J. T. Booker, Jr., his brother. Consequently, when Booker faces justice Crutchfield this morning he will have to answer to two charges.

Mediation May Help Solve Result of Unified Effort. Problem.

A B. Eddens, sixty-six years old, an uncle of Mrs. A. I. Parrish, of 915 Floyd Avenue, with whom he lived, died suddenly last night shortly after 11 o'clock while seated in a Broad and Twenty-flith Street car, which was passing Elighth and Broad Streets, Passengers who saw him fall were quickly at his side, but he was dead. Death was ascribed to heart failure. In order to avoid blocking traffic the car was run to First Street, where it was put upon a siding, and Coroner Taylor was notified. He gave permission to remove the body.

Mr. Eddens, left hopme about 8 o'clock to visit a friega, who lived at Twelfth and Marshall Streets. Just before he took his departure about 11 o'clock he complained of feeling badly, but did not appear to be concerned. He boarded the car at Twelfth Street, and when it reached Elighth he was dead. He never spoke after falling from the seat.

Mr. Eddens, who was a native of Orange County and for many years engaged in the tobacco business here, leaves one sister, Mrs F. H. Goodlow, of Gordenswille and a half-brother, R. W. Eddens, of Baltimore.

SEEK LOST BOY

Parents, Friends and Police Look for Youth, Who Finally Turns Up.
Stewart Mayo, fourteeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mayo, of 1529 Hanover Avenue, yesterday afternoon and early last night had all members of his family, many friends and the entire Police Department searching for him.

Late yesterday afternoon he was reported missing at the Second Police Station, and a city-wide hunt for him was started. It was said that he left home before noon, saying that he intended to go to church. When he failed to return within a reasonable time his parents became alarmed. The Academy of Music rally yesterday formally opened the campaign, which will be directed from Richmond, to secure the success of State-wide probibition at the election on September 22. The preliminary machinery of the campaign has been in motion for some time. At the headquarters of the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia, Seventh and Grace Streets, a force of stenographers has for weeks been engaged in preparing and sending out campaign literature.

The enabling act becomes law on June 19. Under its provisions the Governor is directed to call a special election on the wet and dry issue as soon as a petition signed by one-fourth as many voters as participated in the last general election is presented to him asking that such an election be held.

LAST REMNANTS OF OLD SHIPYARDS ON FIRE

Fire, which has been smouldering for the past week, is slowly consuming the huge network of timbers which form the launching ways at the old Trigg ship yards. Unless some speedy action is taken, this last relic of the Ereat industry of former days will be wiped from existence. The ways were built at an enormous expense, and from there were launched a number of the triangle of the industrial resources of this days. Entertainment Features.

Among the entertainment features which have been authorized is a banquet to be held on the opening night of the convention. Visiting merchants and delegates will be the guests at the dinner, which will be held at the Jefferson Hotel. On Thursday night there will be a special performance at the Layie Theatre. The visitors will all be taken through the Manufacturers' Exhibit in order that they may gain an idea of the industrial resources of this city.

wiped from existence. The ways were built at an enormous expense, and from there were launched a number of vessels.

Just what caused the fire is not known. It is not thought probable that sparks from passing locomotives are responsible, owing to the distance. The only explanation which Harbormaster John R. Hopkins can made is that river pirates fired the timbers, in the expectation of making off with the iron rods and bolts which hold them together.

The launching ways extend from Twenty-second Street to Twenty-fifth Street on a strip of land between the Trigg basin and the James River. They were constructed to bear immense weight, and were one of the most costly parts of the shipbuilding plant. The ways were built on a network of piling, capped off and braced with the very best hard pine, and securely fastened with iron bolts and rods.
